

MARIAN FEAST: MOTHER OF THE CHURCH

Mother of the Church Feast Added to Liturgical Calendar

By John L. Allen Jr.

ROME - Pope Francis, whose devotion to Mary is well-known, on Saturday established a new feast for the Catholic Church devoted to Mary as the "Mother of the Church," to be celebrated on the Monday after Pentecost. The decision was announced in a decree by the Vatican's Congregation for Divine Worship and the Discipline of the Sacraments, released on Saturday by the Vatican Press Office.

The decree observes that the veneration of Mary as Mother of the Church has ancient roots in Catholic tradition, reaching back to St. Augustine and St. Leo the Great. The title, the document says, is rooted in New Testament accounts about Mary.

"She became the tender Mother of the Church which Christ begot on the cross, handing on the Spirit," the decree said. "Christ, in turn, in the beloved disciple, chose all disciples as ministers of his love towards his Mother, entrusting her to them so that they might welcome her with filial affection."

In 1964, at the close of the Second Vatican Council (1962-65), Blessed Pope Paul VI formally declared Mary as the "Mother of the Church," and invited Catholics to invoke Mary's help under that title.

During the jubilee year of 1975, the Vatican produced a special Mass, called a "votive Mass," for Mary under the title of Beata Maria Ecclesiae Matre, or "Blessed Mary Mother of the Church," and also approved inserting the title into various prayers in honor of Mary.

With the new decree, devotion to Mary as Mother of the Church now becomes an approved feast for the universal Church. "Having attentively considered how greatly the promotion of this devotion might encourage the growth of the maternal sense of the Church in the pastors, religious and faithful, as well as a growth of genuine Marian piety, Pope Francis has decreed that the Memorial of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of the Church, should be inscribed in the Roman Calendar on the Monday after Pentecost and be now celebrated every year," the document said.

"This celebration will help us to remember that growth in the Christian life must be anchored to the Mystery of the Cross, to the oblation of Christ in the Eucharistic Banquet and to the Mother of the Redeemer and Mother of the Redeemed, the Virgin who makes her offering to God," it said.

The decree stipulated that the feast should appear in all calendars and liturgical books. It also said that once translations of the texts for the new feast are approved by bishops' conferences, they will be published after the congregation gives its confirmation.

Last October, Francis transferred primary responsibility for overseeing many matters of liturgical translation from the congregation to bishops' conferences around the world.

Archbishop Miller's Share Lent 2018 Message

February 18, 2018

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

As we journey through this Lenten Season, the Lord Jesus calls us to devote ourselves to prayer, fasting and almsgiving. Our Development and Peace organization, Caritas Canada, offers us practical ways to respond to this Gospel appeal. This year's Share Lent theme, "Together for Peace," echoes Pope Francis's desire that we "strive to build lasting peace in the world, and to arm ourselves and our children with the weapons of dialogue."

We pray for the true peace of Christ in a world where strife seems endless. We pray for an end to conflict together with our partners in Lebanon, Cambodia, Nigeria, Peru and elsewhere. Through dialogue, they are building bridges of tolerance among peoples, generations, communities, and religions. And we pray not only for the absence of war but also for the establishment of justice.

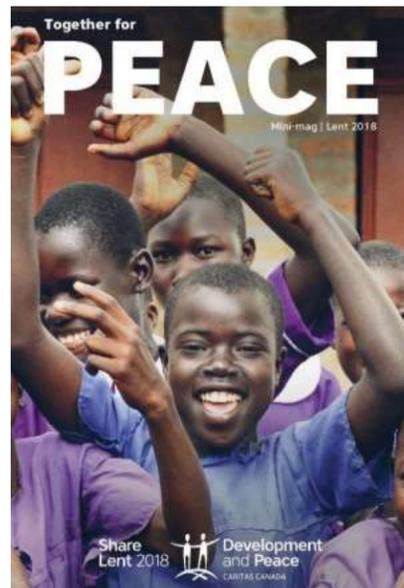

Today I invite you to join me in this year's Share Lent campaign: that we might work "Together for Peace."

Share Lent resources are available in your parish, on rcav.org and on devp.org, including a Solidarity Calendar to guide you through our Lenten journey.

On March 18, the Fifth Sunday of Lent, you will have the opportunity to donate to the Solidarity Sunday Collection in support of this campaign. I urge you to give sacrificially in support of our Development and Peace partners who are on the front lines. In the words of St. Francis of Assisi, may we "be instruments of God's peace." Together let us build a world where peace and justice prevail.

With cordial greetings and my prayers for a blessed Lent, I remain

Sincerely yours in Christ,
J. Michael Miller, CSB
Archbishop of Vancouver

4th Sunday of Lent

Working Towards Becoming Good Stewards

Dear Friends & Parishioners,

It is tax season again. It is amazing how quickly it seems to come around. You will be happy to know that your tax receipts are available for pickup in the foyer and in the office on weekdays. Enclosed with your receipts is a form which some of you may not be aware of. It is the form which enables you to make your parish donations through Pre-Authorized Giving. Some of you are already doing this.

Advantages for you:

- Convenience: Your offering is deducted from your account once each month and automatically deposited to the Parish account or automatically paid by credit card.
- You can plan your giving in advance for the whole year.
- You can continue to support the parish when you are away.

Advantages for the Parish:

- A regular, dependable flow of contributions to the parish especially over the summer holiday months.
- A reduction of paperwork and bookkeeping.

Then there is the question of how much to give. We should be giving to the Lord at least the first fruits of our labour, an hour of our day's income for each week. In the agrarian society of Biblical times, first fruits meant the best yield of one's labour in crops or cattle. Today, we interpret this as an hour of your wage for the week offered to God at Sunday worship. We have good stewards in our parish who give more and for this we are indeed blessed. For the sake of good financial planning, the parish would benefit tremendously if we all worked towards the goal of being good stewards.

Wishing you blessings for a great week!

Yours in Christ,
Fr. Babu Mathew, C.Ss.R

THE
NEW EVANGELIZATION
SUMMIT

OLPH Parish Hosting the New Evangelization Summit

Our Parish is one of several sites hosting an international event with the Archdiocese of Vancouver that will inspire Catholics in our locale to be engaged in the New Evangelization.

This two-day conference will bring together speakers who are leaders in the New Evangelization to provide inspiration, encouragement, training, practical wisdom and resources on how Catholics can effectively evangelize. All Catholics – pastors, missionaries, lay ministers, and the lay faithful – will benefit immensely from this powerful opportunity to be further equipped in the fundamental mission of the Church.

The annual NES will be held in Ottawa and streamed to 38 host-sites. The broadcasting of the event will provide a way for Catholics from around North America to participate in the Summit. Thus approximately 5000 like-minded Catholics from across the continent will be united in one goal – to be formed as evangelists and be part of a network of Catholic evangelists.

Stewardship Reflection

"For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son..." - John 3:16

Of all the wonderful gifts that God has given to us, the gift of His own Son is truly the greatest. How can we ever thank God for a gift like that? God does not ask us to sacrifice our own precious firstborn, but He does ask that we are grateful and generous with our God-given gifts. That we nurture and develop them and return with increase.

A Retreat on the Power of Prayer

RCIA members of the Elect turned up with great enthusiasm for the half-day Parish Retreat planned for them as they continue their journey towards receiving the Sacraments at Easter.

The theme of Prayer and Reconciliation featured prominently on the morning's agenda.

Our first speaker was Jonathan Cooper, a realtor, who gave a powerful testimony of how Christ drew him into the Catholic faith after years as a Protestant. The real presence of Jesus is almost palpable for him in the Eucharist and this went on to develop into regular visits to the Blessed Sacrament.

"No matter what my day looks like, I make the time for daily Mass. As someone in finance, I understand how to make good returns on my investment, so to speak. That half hour I spend in prayer and receiving Jesus in the Eucharist is abundantly rewarded by the sense of peace and focus I receive to do my work well for the rest of my day."

Our second speaker was Maria Murcia, a former parishioner and Ph.D student at UBC. She spoke of the When, Where and How of Prayer and how important it is for us to "pray without ceasing" as St Paul says.

She too talked about prayer in language that we can all relate to: "A life of prayer is a 0% risk, 100% return, life changing investment. Commit to at least 15 minutes every day and you will notice great change in your life! Even amidst difficulties and challenges your friendship with Christ will give you the peace to tackle and profit from them.

"Build your day, even better, your week around prayer! You can surely spare 15 minutes to do it (we are all famous for spending much more time fooling around with our devices, social media, etc). Just make sure you are specific to set the 'whens' and 'wheres'. Be deliberate and don't let prayer be another 'when' in your calendar that you can snooze and dismiss."

Her advice: "We want to start off our day with the one that loves us the most. We pray precisely because we want to have a relationship with HIM, and by praying regularly, we unite ourselves to HIM. And like friends who get acquainted, we develop the same mind, we feel alike! And therefore we are efficacious in our day as we work and play with the very heart and mind of Christ."

While you are praying, please remember to keep our RCIA members in mind.

LENTEN REFLECTION

Finding God in The Art of Stillness

By Vanessa Santilli-Raimondo

In today's world, people are mostly foreign to stillness. Being continually busy is the norm, and finding time to do absolutely nothing but sit back, relax and be still is a novel concept. But hard as it may be to find time for stillness, it's a practice that can be used to increase our focus and direction — and to build a deeper connection with God in our lives.

Travel writer Pico Iyer is an expert on staying busy and being still. "Not many years ago, it was access to information and movement that seemed our greatest luxury," reflected Iyer in his book, The Art of Stillness. "Nowadays, it's often freedom from information, the chance to sit still, that feels like the ultimate prize."

Iyer would know — he's made a life of travelling the world. It was through his habit of movement that he found himself a visitor at a Benedictine monastery in California, where he first engaged in the pursuit of stillness. He's since visited more than 80 times and has found a silence that has enriched his life.

Society's collective need for downtime has surfaced through a travel trend called "silence tourism." According to an article published last summer in Condé Nast Traveler, "being quiet is the newest adventure trend" as people flock to vacation destinations that promise a digital detox from the demands of a 24/7 culture.

There's science behind the claim that silence — a key to stillness — is beneficial to health. In 2011, a World Health Organization report called noise pollution the "modern plague." The report found overwhelming evidence that exposure to environmental noise has adverse effects on the health of the population.

In the Catholic tradition, the benefits of silence are not new. Silent retreats are one means widely available for people to take time to be still, unwind and re-orient their life's direction. Another tool that can bring an encounter with the art of stillness is Christian meditation, often described as a "prayer of the heart."

Aside from the myriad spiritual benefits, the Canadian Christian Meditation Community's website lists a wide array of associated health benefits, including: improved attention, lower blood pressure, a boosted immune system, reduced anxiety and depression and improvement in coping strategies and emotional processing.

To meditate, sit upright and breathe calmly. Then, close your eyes and in your mind and heart repeat the Aramaic word "Maranatha." It's an ancient Christian prayer word that means, "Come, Lord Jesus." While you do this, pay particular attention to your breathing and listen to the sound of the mantra (to be recited as four syllables). "Let go of all thoughts (even good thoughts), images and other words," wrote Fr. John Main, an Oblate who played a major role in the rediscovery of this prayer tradition once practised by early Christian monks. "Don't fight your distractions: let them go by saying your mantra faithfully, gently and attentively and returning to it as soon as you realize you have stopped saying it or when your attention wanders."

It may sound easy — after all, you are kicking back and relaxing — but in practice it's not that straightforward. Even after multiple attempts, I still found it difficult. It feels counterintuitive to sit still in silence and let your thoughts pass by. But keeping up the practice has led me to moments of much-needed tranquility.

Christian meditation is essentially the discipline of finding time and training yourself to be still, which, in turn, helps focus your thoughts on God — even if it's just for a few minutes a day. Cutting through the external noise is the first step, but there is also internal noise and distractions that can be just as loud.

Praying the rosary is another tried and true method for becoming still and connecting with God. Praying the rosary in the silence of your home is one option, or you might try putting your rosary in your pocket and taking it on a walk with you, swapping your headphones for the decays of the rosary. There are many ways to achieve stillness but they all require much self-control. But it's definitely a worthy pursuit as a means to counter the distractions and overstimulation that is part of daily living.

"God hidden within me," wrote the late, great theologian Thomas Merton. "I find Him by hiding in the silence in which He is concealed."
